

Happiness is...being with grandparents!

The students of Aadhar, the pre-primary block of the school, held a three-day celebration to show their love for their grandparents. The whole week preceding the event was an exciting one as students learnt songs and dances to present in their classes and also made decorations to give their classrooms a festive look. The kids were charged up throughout the week to welcome their grandparents and on the final day looked forward to seeing them. The teachers declared that each grandparent belongs to all students so that no child felt left out in the celebrations. The tiny tots pinned badges on the grandparents followed by a Heartfulness session where the two genera-
